

2005 URI NCGC LOCAL QUALIFIER RESULTS

PINEHURST GOLF CLUB

CAROLINA RI

OCTOBER 1, 2005

Grossman and Appelbaum take Student Division Championship

In its fourth year of operation, the URI Intramural Sports Program hosted a local qualifying event for the 2005 National Collegiate Golf Championship to be held November 11-13, 2005 in Las Vegas, Nevada. David Grossman and Jeremy Appelbaum from the University of Vermont shot a team score of 63 to win the Student Division and overall Tournament Championship honors with low team score.

Eric Alexander and Tom Sleboda from the University of Rhode Island shot a team score of 64 and took 2nd place in the 2-person scramble event. Grossman and Appelbaum advance to the 2005 National Tournament as the automatic qualifier prize winners, and Alexander and Sleboda are eligible to enter the National Tournament.

Steve Blessing Jr. and Chris Coogan emerge with Open Division Championship

Pinehurst Golf Club member Steven Blessing Jr. and partner Chris Coogan took the Open Division title with a score of 74. Blessing Jr. earned his entry into the Local Qualifier as winner of the 2005 Pinehurst Men's Golf League Championship. CGA Northeast Manager and URI Intramural Sports Coordinator Peter Koutroumpis and his wife Stacia finished second in the Open Division.

CLOSEST TO THE PIN – #3

BOB MALOOF – CCRI

SPORTS ILLUSTRATED ON CAMPUS PACKAGE

CLOSEST TO THE PIN – #6

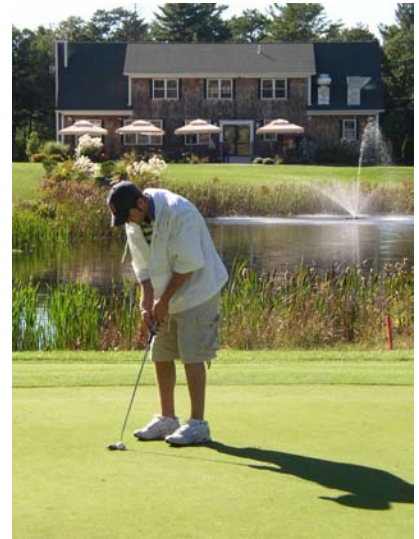

DAVID GROSSMAN – UVM

SPORTS ILLUSTRATED ON CAMPUS PACKAGE

LONGEST DRIVE – ALMOST GOLF

DAVID GROSSMAN – UVM

ALMOST GOLF SHAG STICK AND BALLS

ACTION ON THE LINKS

RED BULL BEFORE COMPETITION

2005 CGA NCGC ON-CAMPUS EXPO UNIVERSITY OF RHODE ISLAND

